WHAT WILL THE COUNCIL DO

About the Proposed Electric Line on Salem Avenue?

Is the Question Uppermost in the Minds of Salem Avenue Property Holders—Petitioners for and Against the Line—Who the Petitioners Are—A Hitch Between Landlords and Tenants.

The street railway seems determined to secure the right of way for its electric car line along Salem avenue between Commerce and Jefferson streets.

The strong opposition by property owners and business men interested, when the matter was first agitated, defeated the project in the Council, and the opposition was so decidedly strong that the question was apparently settled.

The Street Railway Company has not been idle in this matter, and the names of many who were most bitterly opposed to the road are on the petition of the business men, presented at the Council meeting Monday night, asking that the right of way be granted the Street Railway Company. Some of the names on the petition were on the original petition against the road.

It will be remembered that the property owners and business men on Salem avenue were interviewed by a reporter of THE TIMES, and a large majority of both were strongly opposed to the construction of the line, giving as their reason the belief that an electric car line on so narrow a thoroughfare would drive business to other parts of the city and decrease the value of property.

Several of the largest property holders went so far as to say that they would contest the matter in the courts should the Council grant the railway company the privileges desired.

As reported in yesterday's Times, petitions for and against the car line were presented at the Council meeting Tuesday night and the fight is on again with prospects of being more lively than ever.

The construction of the line will necessitate the planting of a line of poles on each side of the narrow avenue, and vehicles cannot be driven on the track, as the Trail is to be used.

The following is the petition for the car line: "We, the undersigned, your petitioners, respectfully request that you reconsider your action in refusing to allow the Roanoke Street Railway Company to occupy Salem avenue between Commerce and Jefferson streets. We are strongly in favor of allowing the railway company to occupy the street, and believe it will be a benefit to all parties thereon, especially to retail merchants."

A petition from real estate owners was also presented as follows: To the President and members of the City Council:

We, the undersigned, property owners of Salem avenue, believing that an electrical street car line on said street would, on account of the narrowness of the street, injure and depreciate our property, petition your honorable body to refuse to grant the right of way to lay track on said street.

What People are Doing in and Out of Roanoke.

The regular congregational services will be held in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian Church to-night at 4:30 o'clock.

Dan Richardson, of Richardson Bros., left last night for Washington and Baltimore on business. He will be absent for several days.

Charles Beach, a negro from Salem, was arrested by Officer Wolfe yesterday for the Salem authorities. He was taken to Salem in the evening by Officer Johnson, of that town.

Mary Miller created a commotion yesterday evening on Railroad avenue and vicinity by charging William Scruggs with beating her and tearing up some money belonging to her. Officer Wolfe arrested both parties on a charge of disorderly conduct.

A very cordial invitation is extended to all young men who are interested in the Young Men's Christian Association to attend the social religious services this evening at 8 o'clock in the association rooms. The topic for discussion is "No man liveth to himself."

The ladies of St. Andrew's Church will give a fair in the near future, the proceeds to go for paying for the Catholic graveyard.

Thomas A. Johnston, the general secretary of the Roanoke Young Men's Christian Association, returned yesterday from Lynchburg, where he had gone to attend the funeral of his brother, Frank Johnston, of that city.

Manager Cliff, of the Western Union office, is sick.

Curbage on fifty-six wagons at the market house yesterday amounted to $9.40.

The regular monthly meeting of the congregation of the Baptist Church was held last night at 7:30 o'clock.

THE ELECTRIC STREET RAILWAY.

B. J. Black, of Richmond, is Here to Direct His System's First Trial.

B. J. Black, of Richmond, the inventor of an electric street railway system, is in Roanoke and was out on Commonwealth avenue yesterday giving his personal superintendence to the work now being done on the new electric street railway of Roanoke.

Mr. Black's system is an entirely new one. It is an underground system, but different from other electric railways in that the electricity is transmitted by a trolley system instead of by bushes.

The to be made in Roanoke will be the first one made of the Black system, and if it proves successful and satisfactory to the city authorities, Mr. Black's system will be accepted. The inventor is entirely confident of the success of his invention.

There has been some delay in the work. Some mischievous persons, Mr. Black said, injured the electric car that is here to be used in the test by pulling out wires in the cars, necessitating the sending to Richmond for others.

Mr. Black said that the trial trip of the car will take place to-day on Commonwealth avenue between 9 o'clock in the morning and three in the afternoon. The electricity used in lighting the town, will propel the car on its trial trip. The greatest power that can be developed by the electric light dynamo is 220 volts, which, Mr. Black says, will be ample to send the car speeding up Commonwealth avenue.

E. T. Pollard, an electrician of Richmond, is with Mr. Black to assist him in his experiments.

Hall-Guinn.

Miss Carrie E. Guinn was married last night at the Greene Memorial Methodist Church to J. E. Hall, the marriage ceremony being performed by Rev. J. H. Boyd. Both parties are of Roanoke. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mrs. N. K. Guinn, the widow of Rev. Jesse H. Guinn, of North Carolina. A large attendance was in the church, considering the inclemency of the weather.

Smith's News Stand.

C. M. Smith has opened a news stand at the Continental Hotel, where he will keep for sale all the leading New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington papers, together with the magazines and periodicals of the day. The Times will be found for sale there every morning. Doug. Smith is the manager of this newly established news stand.

The reason why advertisers like THE TIMES is because their advertisements prove profitable.
